

Naphill & Walter's Ash Gazette

Cover Pictures - Guidelines for Photographers

Do you have a favourite magazine, maybe a photography magazine that you look forward to receiving each month? I know that I do. And much of the pleasure and the anticipation of the magazine's content come from the image on the front cover.

The photographs used on the cover of the Naphill & Walter's Ash Gazette can give as much pleasure to readers and it would be good to think that the photographs could be so good that readers collected Gazettes in the way that people collected National Geographic magazines!

Local photographs

As the Gazette is a local magazine, the cover picture needs to be 'local'. The definition of 'local' I have chosen encompasses views of, and events in, local places that readers of the Gazette might see or walk to day-to-day: the ones I have chosen include:

Naphill, Walter's Ash, North Dean, Hughenden Valley, Hughenden Park, Downley Common, Naphill Common, Bradenham and Small Dean. (RAF Parades and Displays – to include High Wycombe).

I believe that this area offers an amazing diversity of subjects as it is all within the Chilterns Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty.

Copyright

As the photographer, you will always retain copyright of your photographs.

By submitting your photographs to the Gazette you are granting the Editor permission to reproduce your photograph as a cover picture for the Gazette at no cost to the Editor or the Gazette.

Your photographs may require cropping and adjusting to fit the format of the Gazette and the requirements of the printer of the Gazette.

By submitting your photographs to the Gazette you are granting the Editor permission to make these modifications to your photographs.

Technical

To match the format of the Gazette, your photographs need to be in portrait format or square format. The printer requires photographs that are 350dpi (not less than 300) when cropped to suit the layout of the Gazette. Your photographs should be ready to print as a JPEG or TIFF or PSD file.

All photograph files should be renamed in the following format (this is to help up credit the photographer and find images quickly)

Your name_Subject/Location_your original file number
